MILITARY QUIZ MAY IMPLICATE UNITED STATES OFFICIALS
Selective Service Act Declared Constitutional

DRAFT LEGALITY UPHELD TODAY BY SUPREME COURT RULE

All Question As to Binding Force of Statute Settled By Decision Given

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7.—The supreme court today declared the draft law to be constitutional. The decision of the court settles the constitutionality of the selective service law in nine cases. Eight of these were advanced and considered jointly in order to settle the draft question at one blow.

Chief Justice White in handing down the decision on the nine cases against the draft law that reached the supreme court said the arguments of all objectors were "absolutely devoid of merit. Our minds are unable to conceive that raising armies by draft is slavery and violates the thirteenth amendment," said White.

In arguments before the supreme court Dec. 13 and 14, the main attack of the objectors was that the Constitution did not empower the federal government to make a direct draft on its citizens. This power was never surrendered by the states, it was held, and the draft should have been made through the individual states.

Another favorite angle of attack was that the draft is "slavery or involuntary servitude" and thus violated the Thirteenth Amendment. To this the solicitor general, John W. Davis, effectively showed that a soldier is not a slave.

Allege Attempts to Found Religion
The exemption of ministers and divinity students was another ground on which the draft was assailed. Emma Goldman's attorney declaring this provision tended to establish a religion, which is unconstitutional.

The government's arguments anticipated the objections of those opposing the draft. The autocrats of Germany planned to attack the United States after "cleaning up" the allies in Europe, it was claimed. Therefore the draft and the expedition of troops to Europe was actually to repel an invasion, a constitutional right, the government argued.

The power to declare war includes the power to compel military service, was the government's contention. Draft also was a normal method of raising American armies at the time the Constitution was adopted, historic records showed.

No-Conscriptionists Lead
Miss Goldman and Alexander Berkman, backers of the No-Conscription League, were the most prominent plaintiffs in the draft cases. They openly urged young men not to register for the draft. Following are some of Berkman's characterizations, introduced by government attorneys, as a part of his "war dictionary."
"Allies—The fairies of democracy."
"Liberty Bond—A bone from a bonehead."
"Militarism—Christianity in action."
"Patriotism—Hating your neighbor."
"Registration—Funeral march of liberty."
"Trenches—Digging your own grave."

Associated with Goldman and Berkman were Louis Kramer and Morris Becker, both of New York City, who testified they were members of the No-Conscription League. Kramer tried to induce Joseph J. Finin, a policeman in civilian clothes, not to register.

The case of three Cleveland, Ohio, socialists, Charles E. Ruthenberg, Alfred Wagenknecht and Charles Baker, who were convicted of inducing young men not to register, were also decided by today's decision. Their claim that the jury was chosen entirely by Republicans and Democrats and that the Socialist party had no representation was overruled. Their arrest was the result of a Socialist peace meeting in the public square at Cleveland, May 20, when Baker said he "would rather be shot here as a man than be shot in the trenches of Europe as a dog."

Four Minnesota young men, who failed to register and are now in the Minnesota state penitentiary under a year's sentence, are also affected by today's decision. They are Joseph F. Arver, Alfred F. Grahl, and Otto and Walter Wangerlin.

The case of Albert Jones, negro, of Duffie County, Ga., was the last case advanced to come under today's ruling. He objected to the draft as "slavery."

FORCES OPPOSED TO GOVERNMENT CONTROL OF R. R.'S IN SIGHT

Bills Introduced Prevent Indefinite Conduct of Lines After the War

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7.—Forces rising to block government ownership of railroads revealed themselves in Congress and railroad circles today.

Senators Watson of Indiana and Gallinger of New Hampshire, introduced bills preventing indefinite government control after the war. Before the Senate interstate commerce committee A. P. Thom, general counsel for the railroads, declared the railroads are not in favor of any plan of government operation and control after the war.

BOMB WRECKS PUBLIC INSTITUTION; NO ONE INJURED BY ACCIDENT

ROCHESTER, Pa., Jan. 7.—The Rochester Continuation School, a public institution attended by forty pupils, was wrecked this afternoon by a bomb in the desk of Miss Cecille Helbling, the teacher. No one was in the school when it exploded. Police blame Germans for the deed, and declare the bomb exploded prematurely.

TWO AMERICAN FLYERS ACCIDENTALLY KILLED IN FRENCH SERVICE

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7.—Two American aviators were killed in accidents in France, it was reported today. First Lieutenant William F. Ely of Rochester, N. Y., and Sergeant G. E. Noudck of Chicago.

POLICE GUARD OFFICE OF SEATTLE DAILY PRINTING PLANT

SEATTLE, Wash., Jan. 7.—Special police details were on constant duty today to protect the office of the Seattle Daily Call and the plant of the Pigott Printing Company from further mob raids, following destruction of mechanical equipment of the Pigott plant by two civilians and a group of men in sailor uniforms Saturday night.

A reward of $500 has been offered by the Pigott Printing Company, which printed the Call and an I. W. W. publication, for arrest and conviction of the members of the mob. The presses were not damaged and the Call editorial rooms were unharmed. The Call published an extra edition, telling of the mob raid Sunday afternoon. Shortly afterward a trio of sailors and forty or fifty civilians went from newsstand to newsstand tearing up all copies of the extra.

Joe Smith, secretary of the Pigott Printing Company, announced today that he would ask a grand jury probe of the attack.

'MOST IMPORTANT' OF SOCIALIST MEETINGS COMMENCES IN BERLIN

AMSTERDAM, Jan. 7.—What the socialist organ, Vorwaerts, called "the most important meeting of socialists since the start of the war," was called in Berlin today. It was composed of the socialist members of the reichstag and was specifically assembled to discuss the Brest-Litovsk peace negotiations. Berlin dispatches predicted the conference would urge withdrawal by the Germans of the terms held unacceptable by Russia.

GERMAN SOCIALISTS OPPOSE DECEIT USED

AMSTERDAM, Jan. 7.—Both majority and minority Socialists of Germany are opposed to the imperial German government's deceit in the terms of the peace offered Russia as to "self determination of peoples," according to delayed messages received today from Berlin.

They quoted Philip Scheidemann, majority socialist leader, and Dr. Haase, minority leader as both protesting against the terms.

Requirements and Provisions For Raising Necessary Amount Requested

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7.—Director General McAdoo today called on the railroads for estimates of their money requirements during 1918. He asked all railroad presidents to report not later than January 9 what capital will be needed and what plans for raising it are recommended at the same time; he asked for detailed information on operating revenues, expenses and incomes for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1917.

The director general's order seeks to arrive at a basis for financing the national railroad now under his direction. The order follows:
"You will let me have not later than January 9 the following information: Capital Required

"First, a statement showing the amount of capital your company will require to raise during the calendar year 1918 and also separately for the first six months of that calendar year. (1) To meet all maturing bonds and note issues which have not already been provided for or which are not to be paid out of the cash resources of your company, showing dates of such maturities; (2) to pay for improvement, betterment and construction work already contracted for and partially finished. (This statement should show what proportion, if any, of such work can be stopped now without detriment); (3) an approximate estimate of the capital which may be imperatively important to provide for other construction work, improvement, (showing equipment separately); (4) an approximate estimate of the capital in the judgment of your company, it is desirable to provide for the above purposes but for which the demand is not absolutely necessary for the protection of the property or for the maintenance of its earnings.

How Raise Sums
"Second, a statement as to the character of stocks, bonds or notes with which your company expects to be able to raise the capital so required.

"Information as to the number of freight, coal and oil carrying cars in operation, owned and in repair shops on December 31," also was asked.

Further uncertainty which may result from the order increasing car demurrage. With this process will go, too, some increases in living costs, McAdoo indicated. Extra labor will be required to get prompt unloading. His new schedule, effective January 21, will allow cars to remain side-tracked two days free, but thereafter rates will go 50 to 100 per cent above the present.

McAdoo held that requirements of the war and health and comfort of the nation demand the extra effort. He expressed the view that shippers and the public will readily bear the added burdens from a patriotic spirit.

More locomotives were free today for freight service through further curtailment of passenger service.

LETTERS WRITTEN TO GOVERNOR NOT SAME

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 7.—Letters threatening the life of Gov. Stephens and demanding $5000 blackmail from George D. Greenwood of San Francisco were not written by the same parties and have no connection, according to Captain of Inspectors B. A. Williams of the Oakland police. He completed today an investigation of the two letters, both of which were postmarked Oakland, written with rubber stamps and signed "C. C. C."

CATTLE OWNERS MAY LOSE THEIR BRANDS

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 7.—Thousands of cattle owners in California are today threatened with the loss of the right to use their cattle brands, many of which have been in use since the days of '49, because of their failure to record the brands with the State Cattle Protection Board.

ESTIMATE ASKED NO DECREASE IN UNITED ALLY STATEMENT OF WAR AIMS URGED BY WILSON BELIEVED NEAR

Requirements and Provisions For Raising Necessary Amount Requested

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7.—America will push her work without a thought that peace may be drawing nearer.

Secretary of War Baker and other officials held today that there must be no letting down in preparations. Peace, they say, now is up to Germany. Lloyd George has stated the allied terms and insofar as unofficial expressions here go, these are America's terms, too.

If Germany wants to reform herself and accept these terms, the way is open. But if she wants to fight on, the allies and America are fully aware and ready for the bloody sacrifices involved, all officials agree.

They added that it would be little short of treasonable and foolhardy for this nation to slow up now, merely because of a growing conviction that the allies and Teutons are getting more nearly together through a process of unofficial statement of peace aims.

Oppose Aims Statement
True, authorities here, including men high in the military councils, do believe that peace is coming up more rapidly than is the general belief. But if they had their way wholly, there would not even be a statement of war aims. Instead, there would be a policy of blood and iron which would ultimately make the German lines crumble and the kaiser beg for peace.

Some military men, however, are inclined to feel that already the war is shifting into the diplomatic field. That, by the mere fact of a statement of terms from both sides, a desire for peace is manifest which sows the seed for actual negotiations. Not that they think Germany is going to accept Lloyd George's terms right away, but they believe that Germany now knows that she cannot win and is willing, therefore to go far to get an adjustment.

War Length Estimated
One neutral diplomat sized up the situation today as a case of peace in three or four months or a war of three or four years. That may be said to be a more or less prevalent opinion here, though those who venture into prophecy vary in their maximum and minimum figures considerably.

The thought here is that Lloyd George cleverly offset German propaganda by disclaiming any intent to crush the German people while at the same time he made a distinct bid for an Austrian peace and skillfully maneuvered to draw the Russians back into the allied fold.

If Austria finally heeds the cry for peace and the Russians definitely set themselves against Germany so she cannot get supplies, then will peace be little short of a reality, experts say.

Russians Cry Peace
Russian officials are skeptical, however, of any permanent alignment between the allies and Russia. Her cry is peace, peace and regardless of what party comes into power they feel that the Slavs will stick to their separate peace program, unless a general peace is maneuvered in the meantime.

Officials anticipate that Germany will modify her position toward Russia, having failed to bully the Slavs at Brest Litovsk. Teuton threats to use force in accomplishing their demands are regarded as camouflage.

However, further allied efforts will be made to induce Russia to return to the flock. These attempts will be directed toward showing Russia that her salvation lies only with the allies.

SAYS I. W. W. PLANS TO DESTROY LUMBER MILLS ALONG COAST

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 7.—By March 1 there will not be a lumber mill left on the Pacific coast if the I. W. W. can carry out its plans, according to charges made today by A. W. Thornton, head of the arson bureau of the board of fire underwriters.

Thornton declared his bureau has information of an I. W. W. plot to burn every Pacific coast mill and many other plants. He pronounced the recent disastrous fire at the Westwood plant of the Red River Lumber Company as the beginning. He declared the belief that German money was involved.

ALLEGED EMPLOYE OF GOVERNMENT GIVEN LARGE CONTRACTS

Ask Department of Justice to Investigate Charges Against All Departments

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7.—Criminal prosecutions may follow the senate military investigations.

Senator McKellar, member of the investigating committee, will ask that the testimony be laid before the Department of Justice. McKellar's motion will be unanimously supported, other committee members said this afternoon.

The decision to take this step followed the testimony that showed that contracts had been let to firms of persons officially serving the government, amounting to $128,000,000. A federal statute expressly forbids this.

These contracts represent only a small per cent of the total number. All government departments are said to be in violation of this law. The department of justice will also be asked to probe other phases of the government contract making.

CAMP LEWIS OFFICERS WAITING WORD AS TO FATE OF SPY SUSPECT

CAMP LEWIS, Jan. 7.—Military authorities are today awaiting word from Washington, D. C., which will determine the fate of Sergeant Major Heinrich Ritter, German spy suspect arrested at this post after highly valuable war papers had disappeared.

Detailed statements of the exact nature of his offense are withheld. It is known, however, that he was in a position to obtain possession of incoming communications and of detailed military information.

Officers remarked that Ritter had an intimate knowledge of fortifications, army conditions, qualifications of men high in authority and was able to rectify detailed information, such as the names of all ships sunk by German submarines prior to July.

WANT TO SUBSTITUTE 'PORKLESS DAY' FOR 'MEATLESS TUESDAY'

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, Jan. 7.—Substitution of "porkless day" for meatless day will be advocated at the annual convention of the American Livestock Association meeting here January 14, according to statements by officials today.

The live stock men say that unless the cattle and sheep now being fattened are marketable this year at good prices, there will be less stock raised next year and the winter will see a serious shortage of meat.

AMSTERDAM, Jan. 7.—Independent Socialists in Germany sent a message to the bolsheviks not to accept the proposals of Germany and to avoid a separate peace, it was learned today.

NOW TIME TO TEACH PATRIOTISM, CLAIM

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 7.—"Now's the day and now's the hour to teach patriotism and the principles of democracy in the public schools of California," declares Will C. Wood, state high school commissioner.

Wood advocates the establishment of courses in the schools to teach the causes of the war, the nation's war agencies, and war needs and aims.

"Let the plain, unvarnished truth be taught, without flights of oratory or appeals to any passion except love of America and democracy," says Wood.

START IS MADE TO GATHER CANDY NICKELS FROM THE KIDDIES

Thrift Stamps Campaign Inaugurated In City Schools
This Morning

"John Brown. Good morning, Johnnie. How much money have you this morning for Thrift Stamps?"

This was the salutation to all school children in Santa Ana this morning by teachers and will be the morning greeting hereafter for an indefinite period.

The campaign to catch the "candy nickels" of the school children, and save it to help Uncle Sam and the allies place kaiserism in cold storage started this morning, following organization of the teaching staff of the city for the work by City Chairman F.
L. Andrews.

The principals and teachers of the city will co-operate to the fullest in the efforts to induce children to save their money and buy war Thrift stamps and certificates. And the whole matter is to be handled within the funds of the school. To start the campaign it became necessary to provide the principals of the schools with the stamps. There is no credit in the purchase of stamps—cash only talks.

Walnut Money Buys Stamps
The school board has a small fund derived from the sale of walnuts produced by trees on the various school properties of the city, and this morning F. L. Andrews used a portion of it to purchase $100 worth of the stamps for distribution to the school principals. As their sale brings in the cash, the money received each day can be applied to the purchase of stamps for the following day, thus keeping the principals supplied.

Arrangements have been made by the teachers to keep a complete record of money turned in by a pupil. At roll call each morning each pupil will be asked if he or she brought money with which to purchase a stamp. Five cents is the least that will be accepted, and when any child has accumulated a credit of 25 cents he will be given an order of the principal for one 25-cent war Thrift stamp.

Charley Remsberg, 9 years old, this morning set a high mark for the pupils of Jefferson school to shoot at.
When he responded to his name at roll call he proudly answered that he had $5 in his pocket with which to purchase stamps.

Parents should bear in mind that the 25-cent stamp does not bear interest. When sixteen of the stamps are accumulated they can be exchanged for a Thrift certificate which does bear interest. The sixteen stamps represent $4 and to secure a certificate they must be turned in with 12 cents additional if the purchase is made this month. In 1923 the certificate will be redeemed by the Government for $5.

Will Push Campaign
Now that the holidays have passed County Chairman John McFadden is arranging for a Thrift stamp campaign in all parts of the county. Santa Ana has been allotted $400,000 of the issue of $2,000,000.

Next Sunday, January 13, will be Thrift Stamp Sunday, and all the ministers of the county will be asked to make this a subject of one of their Sunday services. The ministers will be asked to present the matter to their congregations or get some member to do it. If they cannot do this, a special representative will be sent from the Los Angeles headquarters, if it is desired.

Starting on Monday following and for the week special efforts will be made to introduce the subject at lodge meetings. A member of each lodge will be selected to give the details of the plan and urge members to buy stamps and certificates.

It is the desire of the administration that all merchants have stamps and certificates for sale at their places of business. As yet, Charles Kelly, of the Rowley Drug Company, is the only business man who has made application for permission to handle them, and he received his permission direct from the Government.

County Chairman John McFadden has authority to issue a selling permit and merchants can make application to him or send to the department.
The stamp issue was authorized by Congress especially for the purpose of giving the wage earner and people of small means an opportunity to "do their bit" in the big task at hand. It is a savings education also that will be of value to all who avail themselves of the opportunity.

CIGARETTE AND OLD PAPERS CREDITED AS CAUSE OF THE FIRE

Fire, supposed to have been started by a cigarette, threatened the home of R. A. McKinzie at 913 West Highland street last night about 8:30 o'clock. A neighbor saw the flames in the house, broke open a door and put out the fire with a stream from a garden hose. In the meantime, the fire department had been called. A strip three or four feet wide was burned up the wall of the bathroom to the attic. McKinzie told Fire Chief Jackson that he thought the fire was caused by a cigarette stub that he had laid on a pile of old papers while he was taking a bath earlier in the evening. McKinzie was away from home when the fire was discovered.

Two paper bills, one $10 and the other $5, are missing from a drawer in the sewing machine. It is presumed they were taken by someone at the fire.

FRANK BURT IN LOS ANGELES HOSPITAL

SEAL BEACH, Jan. 7.—Operations were performed at Los Angeles hospitals Thursday morning upon three residents of Seal Beach.

The three undergoing the ordeals are Frank Burt, general manager of the Amusement department; Milton Mann, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gustav Mann, and Carl Heinbach, head waiter at the Jewel City cafe.

HEAVY SNOWFALL BLANKETS EAST UNDER FOOT THICK COAT

Railroad and Wire Service Blocked By Most Severe Storm In Years

CHICAGO, Jan. 7.—The Middle West was a great white desert today. The heaviest snowfall on record was whirled by a mile-a-minute gale into huge drifts 12 and 15 feet deep, paralyzing all traffic and forcing business throughout this region practically to a standstill. More than one-third of a season's snow had fallen in 24 hours. The weather bureau reported a fall of 13½ inches on the level early today, on top of four and a half inches previously fallen. This was nearly half the entire snowfall in 1915.

The snow ceased here during the forenoon and the sun began shining brightly.

The storm was centered over the lower Mississippi valley Saturday night, had moved northeastward and today extended from Missouri eastward into Ohio. The heaviest precipitation was in Illinois, Wisconsin, Michigan and Northern Indiana. The weather bureau expected the wind and snow to abate in this territory some time today.

R. R. Service Tied Up
More than half the transcontinental railroads entering Chicago were forced to cancel from one train to their entire service. Suburban service was practically abandoned. But few surface cars attempted to buck the drifts. Taxi companies refused to send out their cars. Scores of privately owned automobiles and motor trucks were abandoned in the streets. Only the elevated railways maintained a semblance of a schedule. Even pedestrians were exhausted by the struggle against the snow and wind.

The Chicago and Alton railroad abandoned all train service out of the city. The Chicago and Northwestern was making an attempt to operate according to schedule, and all through trains via Minneapolis were abandoned. All inbound trains on the Pennsylvania lines were five to ten hours late. All northbound trains on the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul were temporarily suspended. Rock Island trains left one to three hours behind schedule. Trains on the New York Central and Michigan Central were six to ten hours late and many were cancelled. The Illinois Central was operating service "as we can."

Wire Service Crippled
Telephone and telegraph service was badly crippled and many cities were entirely isolated. A milk and fuel shortage was imminent in Chicago and surrounding cities. The only cheering feature of the situation was comparatively high temperatures, but with the abatement of the wind and snow the mercury was expected to drop to about 12 above zero.

Last night was "lightless night" in Chicago and the storm put thousands of street lights out of commission, making the lack of illumination greater than was intended. "Hold-up" men took advantage of the situation, scores of robberies being reported.

Two Dead From Storm
Two persons were dead in this city and nine seriously injured as a result of the storm. Fifty-seven fire alarms were turned in but none of them proved serious, despite the fact that several pieces of apparatus were stalled.

Lake traffic was in great danger. The steamers Missouri and Indiana, caught in the ice off Chicago harbor for hours, made port early today. The steamer Illinois was still trapped in the floes. Other vessels were unreported.

The city abandoned attempts to clear the downtown streets early last night after men and horses had become exhausted. An appeal was made to citizens to aid today. Many schools, which were to re-open after the Christmas holidays, will remain closed.

NEBRASKA EXPECTS HIGHER MERCURY

LINCOLN, Neb., Jan. 7.—With the weather cold, but clear, the prospects of rising temperature are good for this region today. Lincoln was on the western edge of the big storm region of the Middle West. Only a slight snow fell here and the weather, while cold, was not severe. The coal situation in Nebraska, while somewhat short, is not serious.

NO DAMAGE DONE IN IOWA

DES MOINES, Ia., Jan. 7.—The heavy winds of last night and today, further than sending the mercury around the zero mark, did no damage throughout Iowa, according to early reports reaching here. Light snow flurries were reported from most sections of the state. Incoming trains from all directions were from 30 minutes to two hours late.

TRAFFIC BLOCKED IN WISCONSIN

MILWAUKEE, Jan. 7.—Wisconsin was digging itself out of snow drifts man-deep today to get to work. Rail traffic was blocked in many sections. Snow plows were preceding trains and gradually opening up traffic, although it may be many hours before anything like normal operation is possible. A high wind was shifting the snow.

Government reports show about 16 inches of snow fell over Sunday in this section of the state. Schools were closed here for the first time in years. Hundreds had to walk to work because of irregular city line service.

ONE KILLED ON N. Y. ICY WOLKS

NEW YORK, Jan. 7.—One man was killed and several persons were injured this morning by falls on the icy walks and pavements.

A mist began falling early in the night and was still going strong early today. Sidewalks were coated with extremely slick ice. Trolley cars spluttered and fumed. Elevated trains reeled drunkenly around curves and skidded into stations. All transportation was slow and disorganized with the exception of the subway, which was crowded.

Snow or rain and warm weather was predicted.

SEVERAL LOWLANDS FARMS CHANGE HANDS

Huntington Beach News: There have been more big deals in farm land during the past two weeks in this section of the valley than at any other time during the past five years.

The largest of the transactions was the sale of 160 acres, known as the old Edwards place, west of Smeltzer, belonging to L. Elftman of Dominguez, to John Dowley of Oxnard, for a consideration of $68,000, being $425 per acre. This sale was made through the agency of T. B. Talbert & Co., who also sold the 40-acre ranch of R. Edward Larter of the same section for $27,000, or $675 per acre, to Chas. E. Cook of Ventura. Mr. Cook also bought the 30-acre farm of William Kesemann for a consideration of $21,000, making a price of $700 per acre, the record for the recent transfers.

William C. O'Connor has sold 80 acres of the S. E. Talbert holdings at Talbert to Ed Helm of Oxnard, for $40,000, or $500 per acre. Mr. O'Connor sold this property to Mr. Talbert about four years ago.

A remarkable feature about these transfers is that the purchasers are paying cash, having made their money from the bean and beet lands of Ventura county. The amount involved in these land sales is $156,000, which indicates considerable activity in this class of real property.

One regrettable feature about the sales is that two of the best known families of the valley have disposed of their holdings. Mr. Larter and Mr. Kesemann, and may leave the community. Each has stated he did not know just now where he would go, but Mr. Larter says he does not expect to leave Orange county. Mr. Larter came to this vicinity away back in 1876, nearly 42 years ago, and has resided on the farm mentioned for 12 years.

Mr. and Mrs. Kesemann have resided on the place just sold for 24 years.

Mr. and Mrs. Larter and Mr. and Mrs. Kesemann have many friends who would welcome them to Huntington Beach.

TELEGRAM URGES QUICK ACTION IN APPOINTMENT COMMISSION

Associate Beet Growers Will Not Plant Until Men Are Named

Food Administrator Hoover today has before him a telegram from the Associated Beet Growers of California urging him to at once appoint the commission authorized to come to California and make investigations and gather data upon which to base the price for sugar beets for the coming season.

It has now been two weeks since the appointment of a commission was agreed to and no action has been taken. The directors Saturday afternoon authorized attorney Bishop to wire Hoover advising him to get busy at once. The directors also decided not to advise its membership to plant beets until after it has learned who the members of the commission will be.

It is the belief of some of the Growers that Judge Lamb, Hoover's right-hand man at Washington, is in the West now making some kind of an investigation, possibly gathering information that will assist him in naming the men to the commission.

The time is getting short in which to plant beets and the growers do not want to delay planting much longer, if they are to plant this season. They cannot wait until after the commission has made its investigation and reported.

'Y' PRESIDENTS AND LEADERS BANQUETED

Largely Attended Meeting Held at Orange Last Saturday Night

The largest and most successful of annual Y. M. C. A. leaders' and presidents' banquets was held Saturday evening at the Orange Presbyterian church. Sixty-five leaders and presidents banqueted together and took part in the proceedings of the evening. Twelve of the thirteen of the organized communities of the county Y. M. C. A. work were represented, as were 33 of the 34 clubs.

New pictures of the Y. M. C. A. war work were shown and explained by Secretary Cole, after which State Secretary McRae spoke briefly. He complimented the men and boys upon the splendid work accomplished in this county and urged them on to even greater service in the view of the world tragedy and the need of strong, true men. In a business session it was decided to make next Friday evening, January 11, Y. M. C. A. night at the Biederwolf meeting, the boys to meet at the Santa Ana Christian church at 7 o'clock and go to the tabernacle in a body.

Prof. Cranston of Santa Ana addressed the boys and men briefly, after which they separated, the leaders going with Mr. Cranston for their leaders' training session and the presidents with Mr. Cole for their meeting. Lawrence Phillips of Orange was elected president, and Robert Easton of Anaheim, secretary of the Presidents' Club for the ensuing year.

The presidents decided to hold a county conference for all club members of the county at Anaheim, Saturday afternoon and evening, February 16. Full plans of this affair will be announced later. A general discussion of ways and means of improving the club work completed the evening's program.

BETWEEN FIRES, MEN KNIT FOR RED CROSS

BY GEORGE MARTIN (United Press Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7.—It's a long time between fires. So the firemen knit for the Red Cross. They're doing it all over the country, the Red Cross told the United Press today.

Sister Susie and her well-known habit of sewing shirts for soldiers has been outclassed. The firemen are fabricating fragments of fabrics for fighters.

Chess, checkers, cards and newspapers pall in time. The substitution of motors for horses in many city fire departments have even relieved the firemen of the task of currying and feeding the horses.

So the first experiments in having firemen knit was in Rochester, N. Y., where George Eastman, the kodak man, and a prominent worker in the Rochester Red Cross chapter, hit upon the idea of enlisting firemen in Red Cross work.

Knitting machines were provided and the men now have competition as to the length of time required to make a sock, and also the quantity that can be turned out in a day. The firemen are very glad to have something to do in their leisure time and are producing a large number of socks.

The possibility of utilizing the leisure time of the thousands of firemen throughout the country has been sug-

SAMMIES GAMBLE ON FATE OF SERGEANT

BY J. W. PEGLER (United Press Staff Correspondent)

WITH THE AMERICAN EXPEDITIONARY ARMY, France, Dec. 7 (by mail).—Down in Company street they're betting three to one that the sergeant never reached the German lines alive.

The sergeant was missing after that trench raid when the Boche dropped into our trenches for close fighting. When the shelling lifted the sergeant was the first one bounding upstairs from the dugout—the lieutenant had remained at the mouth of the stairs all the time.

It was very dark. The Sammies could see figures rushing toward them. "Don't shoot, I'm an American," said one young soldier, thinking the strangers were French soldiers from an adjoining sector.

"You're just the birds we're out to kill," said a Boche in English—and he shot the American dead.

The Sammies did not like trench fighting. As many as could make it leaped into the parapet where they could use their rifles at close range on the enemy. It was a mix-up; the Germans knew their plan and knew where not to shoot because their own men were there.

When it was over the sergeant was missing.

"I bet three dollars to one today that the sergeant fought out in No Man's Land till they had to kill him," said one of his boys today. "That guy just loved to fight. They'll never put him in a prison camp."

LIQUOR MEN TO FIGHT FOR BEACH DELIVERY

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 7.—Wholesale liquor dealers of Los Angeles and Venice, it is stated, plan to test the opinion of City Attorney McLucas of Santa Monica, that liquor and beer cannot be delivered in the beach city which was recently voted dry. It is understood that liquor will be delivered in Santa Monica, the driver will submit to arrest and the matter will be fought out in court.

City Attorney McLucas in his opinion stated: "The initiative ordinance adopted by the people of Santa Monica on December 4, 1917, forbids the delivery of alcoholic liquors in the city of Santa Monica by any person, firm or corporation, as by any person, firm or corporation, for the sale of alcoholic liquors, within the city of Santa Monica, except to registered pharmacists, is also prohibited by the initiative ordinance."

The liquor dealers believe that when the liquor is purchased outside of Santa Monica and delivered there for private consumption, the carriers cannot be interfered with. It is not thought that they will attempt to solicit orders but will insist on their right to deliver.

"My Country 'Tis of Thee, Sweet Land of Liberty."

DANGER TO GERMANS

Judge J. C. Ruppenthal, of Russell, Mo., who describes himself as a pure-blooded German, all of whose ancestors for many generations have been born in Germany and lived in Germany, looks at the German-American situation from a new and interesting angle. Giving advice to his fellow German-Americans, he says:

"I would rather not take chances for myself and my children as Americans on any treatment Germany might accord us if it were ever able to dictate terms of peace in or to the United States. In that day it will be better to be of any other blood than German. For of all Americans, I fancy, the American of German ancestry is the most cordially hated by the militarists of Germany. It behooves all Americans of German ancestry to be especially zealous for our nation, for they have most to lose."

Judge Ruppenthal probably has good reason for this view. It is well known that the Germans who came to America were generally regarded in the Fatherland, before the war, as a sort of renegade. The Kaiser was notoriously scornful of them. It was hard for the Americans in question to appreciate this fact; it is hard for them now; but according to some of the most enlightened of their own racial group, the best thing for them to do is to face the facts.

Their own relatives and friends, the average Germans, back in the Fatherland, do not hate them. But the militarists who control the army and the government do hate them. Those militarists frowned on them early in the war, in the hope that they would serve Germany by pulling the Prussian chestnuts out of the American fire. Many German-Americans were sufficiently deluded to fall in with this scheme, to their own great misfortune. They failed as Germans and also as Americans.

This country has, in general, forgiven them because nearly all of them finally came to see the error of their ways. The German ruling class has not forgiven them. It hates them all for their failure to bring America under the sway of Prussianism and keep us out of the war while the German government worked its brutal will on civilization.

BRITISH BREWING

While the United States and Canada are severely restricting the manufacture of alcoholic liquors for the sake of war economy and efficiency, it's rather discouraging to read a dispatch like this from London:

"The food controller has issued an order permitting brewers to increase their present output by 20 per cent in the first quarter of the new year. The order also permits an additional increase of 13½ per cent for brewers supplying 'necessitous' munition areas."

Just what that last phrase may mean is not apparent. The experience of every belligerent hitherto has been supposed to show that the prime necessity for effective munition work is sobriety.

But disregarding details, the general significance of the British food controller's order is only too obvious. And it inevitably arouses criticism and discontent in this country. Americans naturally ask what is the use of regulating and limiting our own food allowance in order to save foodstuffs for our allies, if those allies are going to waste in their breweries all that we have saved.

Isn't it possible to get together on the liquor question, as on other questions?

TRUE PATRIOTISM

It is said that an Italian translation of Edward Everett Hale's "The Man Without a Country" has been made available for many soldiers fighting on the Italian front. The Italians need no spur to rouse their patriotism or to keep them fighting for their country. But it is interesting to hear that the patriotic American story that has thrilled so many readers in the United States should also thrill Italian soldiers on the Venetian plains.

True patriotism is the same in any country. The world is learning from

Bud Flivver's Observations

 He was a big fat man—Youngish looking—With a red face—And light hair—
 And he wore—A black coat—That was too tight—And looked like—It would pop open—Some place—
 And he went around—Always smiling—And dropping—Great gobs of joy—And everything—
 And he was—Good natured—And kind to everybody—
 And always trying—To do some good—
 And he was walking—Down the street—And he came—To the corner—Where some men—Were talking—
 And one fresh guy—Was slugging the government—
And finding fault—With the way—The war is run—
 And the fresh guy—Said he wouldn't—Join the Red Cross—And he wouldn't observe—Meatless day—And wheatless day—
 And he said—No one had a right—To tell him—What he could do—And he would eat—Whatever he wanted—
 And he said—The Red Cross—Was full of graft—And the Y. M. C. A.—Was full of slackers—
 And the fat man—Smiled at him—And asked—Did he know—Of any particular—Case of graft—
 And the fresh guy said—He didn't know—Of any particular—Case of graft—But he had—Heard a lot—
 And the fat man—Told him—He was an enemy—To the country—And advised him—To keep his trap shut—
 And the fresh guy—Bristled up—And told him—To shut it—If he thought he could—
 And the fat fellow—Sailed in—And mugged him up—So his own mother—Wouldn't know him—
 And after he—Got through—Wiping up—The sidewalk—With the knocker—
 He went on—Down the street—Whistling and smiling—
—Just like he had done—Nothing more—Than his duty—
 And I was just thinking—That the big hearted man—
Who is always smiling—And passing out—Big slices of cheer—
 Is often the man who—When roused to action—By words of slander—Can do more—For his country—Than the man—Less cheerful—Why pays little heed—To the pro-German knocker—By Bud.

The Political Periscope

This is the merry month of January in the political year 1918, and there are fewer candidates for county offices than any such month of January ever known since Orange county broke loose from its parent's apron strings.

Of course, there is plenty of time yet. The woods may be full of candidates before May rolls around. One wise old political owl said the other day that the number of candidates is going to depend upon the weather. According to his theory, a dry winter will make all the difference in the world in the crop of aspirants for office. If it is a dry year—not using the word dry in its relation to the bar-keep—if the rains are scarce, there is going to be quite a number of men looking around for a job. If it is a rainy year those same men will find prospects on the farm good.

It may be early, but from the disturbance that Jack Neylan has been making, one might judge that the gubernatorial race horses are getting ready to trot. Neylan has been slugging the governor, and some of the governor's friends have been saying that that is a sure sign that Neylan wants to run for governor or he is laying the way for somebody else by trying to weaken the governor. Whatever it may be, the year 1918 is off to a stormy start so far as the governor's event is concerned. Locally, however, things have been so quiet that it looks as though it will take nothing less than a dry year and some kind of a league combined to stir up much commotion.

What's this we periscope out toward Tustin? Howard A. Wassum, Yessir, Howard is thinking about going forth into the political ring.

No, it is not for sheriff. It is for supervisor of the Fifth Supervisorial District.

We haven't had a chance to talk to Wassum, and we haven't the word straight from him, but we did hear that he is thinking it over.

It wouldn't be right to pass a political talk without inquiring after the situation upon sheriff. The sheriff's office has always been the center of a battle royal, and it may be again. Quien sabe?

So far there is no avowed candidate for the office in opposition to Charles E. Jackson, who now holds the job. There has been some talk here and there that Ed Boynton might take a whirl at the job. There has also been more talk recently than there was a few weeks ago that City Marshal Sam Jeranian has been approached by some of his friends in relation to the possibility of his entering the race.

There has also been some conversation on foggy nights and in broad daylight to the effect that Constable Logan Jackson of Orange might join in the festivities. Up in the north end of the county a fine-coated comb has been used in search of a suitable candidate to enter the mile free-for-all against Race Hoss Jack, but if the bombing has resulted in the discovery of the person sought that discovery is being kept a deep dark secret to be disclosed in the light of the moon later on.

A few weeks ago came word that City Manager Spencer of Huntington Beach and City Engineer Renshaw of Fullerton both had their eyes turned longingly toward the office room now occupied by County Surveyor J. L. McBride. Now comes word that there is nothing to it so far as Spencer is concerned. He might have the long thought all right, but he knows it is not within the realms of possibility.

this war that love of one's country demands respect for other countries. Just as individual citizens in the United States are coming to realize that their own homes are not safe so long as other homes are left to the ravages of poverty and disease, nations are learning that national safety depends upon international good will and mutual respect. The real patriot after the war will be the citizen in any nation in the world who respects the rights and admires the good qualities of other nations at the same time that he loves his own.

ity for him to take a running start at the job, for Spencer is not a resident of Orange county. While holding the office of city manager at Huntington Beach he lives at Long Beach.

Somebody got his think-tank to overflowing the other day. He was filled up with the notion that Hauck of Fullerton was going to run for county school superintendent.

Some of these prognostications fail to bring the premises up to date. Ten or twelve years ago it was a fact that every schoolmaster and many a school-ma'am in Orange county aspired to be county school superintendent. In these days the job was the best paid school job in the county. Some of us got so in the habit of figuring it out that way that we failed to observe the change in conditions. These days there are a good many jobs in Orange county that pay a good deal more money than is paid the county school superintendent. For instance, take Hauck, who is principal of the Fullerton Union high school. Why should he want to quit $2750 a year to take a chance on getting a job that pays $2250 gross? Net, the job is some less, depending upon the kind of a campaign that must be made to meet other seekers for the position.

Now there is the job of constable in Santa Ana. In fact, there are two jobs, for Santa Ana township has two constables. Russ Coleman has gone away to the army. He is still nominally constable of Santa Ana township, and probably will remain so until his term is up. But he won't be here to run again, and there is no doubt but that there will be some candidates for the job. Policeman John Ryan has long been considering the lay of the ground. While he was not invited to a recent turkey feed given by Red Innes, he is not entirely cut off from entering the race. There are a lot of jealous mortals who did not get in on the turkey feed who are saying that Red is laying the basis of running for something. However, all that Red does is to grin, and you can draw your own conclusions.

But getting back to Santa Ana township, let it be said that Jess Elliott, first lieutenant of the Home Guards and deputy constable doing duty for Constable Coleman, is unquestionably and unalterably in the race. He is running for constable just as much as J. Belshazzar Cox is running for justice of the peace. And don't you fool yourself about J. Belshazzar Cox. Anyone who thinks he is going to voluntarily give up the job of marrying people and of sending speeders to jail has another guess coming. Count him in the race for 1918.

Let's get back to the first floor of the courthouse, and make just one prognostication more before we close this Periscope. It is a ten to one bet that no one is going to run against Miss Whitney for county recorder, and it is a hundred to one bet that should anyone run against her that defeat will perch upon the trenches of her opponent.

The story is out that Cal D. Lester is going to run for county treasurer against J. C. Joplin. A few weeks ago it was reported that Lester was thinking of taking another race in hand, and at that time it was somewhat conjectured that he had not made up his mind whether he would run against Jerome for auditor, Lamb for tax collector or Joplin for treasurer. Today the conjecture was floating around to the effect that within a very short time Lester would announce himself as a candidate for treasurer.

PACKER SCORES HENEY REGARDING MEAT QUIZ

CHICAGO, Jan. 7.—J. Ogden Armour, packer, yesterday issued the following statement regarding the hints thrown out by Francis J. Heney, in charge of the meat investigation for the United States, to the effect that prosecutions were probable following the evidence produced at the hearing. Armour said:

"Almost daily during the last two weeks there have appeared in the press interviews with Heney in which he has undertaken to tell the people what he and the Government intended to do with the packers.

"The public then was told that the Government would assume control of the business of the packers through receiverships.

"No greater injury can be done to the packers than to affect their credit by fomenting public discontent.

"If there is no other way of curbing Heney and bringing him to a realization of the harm he is doing, then the packers must appeal to public opinion."

M'DANNALD GETTING CROP STATISTICS HERE

D. W. McDannald, county representative at the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce, was here today gathering crop data at the request of the government.

McDannald says there is no let up in the tourists coming west and that none is anticipated as a result of the government assuming control of the railroad lines and invoking new orders and conditions for travel.

LINES ON A FRIEND'S WEDDING DAY

This festive eve assembled here,
Midst song of mirth and cheerful;
An epoch dawned, two hearts draw near,
While parents' eyes brim tearful.

Two hearts unite to beat as one,
Love's sweet ditty hath been sung.
A daughter lost—another won,
New and nearer ties are sprung.

I see a mother's dotting eyes,
Dark enshrined in falling tears;
Yet such swells her breast with glad-some sighs,
Mingled thoughts of joy and fears,

Maiden in thy teens, thou'rt blushing
Fresh as any flower that grows;
Crimson o'er thy cheeks come flushing,
Tinges like the reddest rose.

In prime of youth, stalwart and strong,
Proud as any man can be,
Let sure the notes of Love's own song,
Blessed be they in unity.

Linking their lives for weal or woe,
Though darkness cloud oft hovers, While grief and sorrows come and go,
Remain ye both as lovers.

Thus mark the pledges made tonight
Your dawn of marriage bliss,
Yet striving both to do the right,
Seal them now with love's sweet kiss.

There's nought so sweet as love's embrace,
When hearts beat with affection true;
A realm of comfort—sweet solace
To know you love and she loves you.

Glass to glass, dear friends, tonight,
Drink their health their joy, long life,
And may their future be but bright,
Live ye happy, man and wife.

WHAT IS HOME?

Home's not made of palace walls,
Though with pictures hung and gilded;
Home is where affection calls—
Filled with shrines the heart hath builded;
Home to which the faithful dove Sails beneath the heaven above us.
Home is where there's one to love—
Home is where there's one to love us.
Home's not merely roof and room;
Home needs something to endear it,
Home is where the heart can bloom,
Where there's some kind lips to cheer it!
What is home with none to meet,
None to welcome, none to greet us?
Home is sweet!—and only sweet
Where there's one we love to meet us.

LOYAL GIRLS CLASS

Members Pleasantly Entertained By Their Teacher, Mrs. W. A. Lowman

Mrs. W. A. Lowman planned and carried out a very delightful and clever afternoon party on Saturday at her home on South Broadway for her Sunday school class, the Loyal Girls of the First Christian church.

The living room was bright with lovely poinsettias gracefully arranged and after the arrival of the fourteen members, about half the membership of the class, partners were obtained for the afternoon by means of dissected automobiles.

In the automobile love story contest, the prize of a cute little glass automobile filled with candies was given to tiny little Miss Eleanor Mitchell, who again impersonated the new year for Mrs. Lowman's guests.

Other just as delightful games were played and the luncheon carried out the automobile plan, the menu being as follows: Gasoline, chocolate; bolts and nuts, olives and pickles; cup grease sandwiches; batteries, cakes and sparkles, mints.

The table was centered with a bowl of delicate heliotrope with a heart of lovely pink roses.

Those enjoying Mrs. Lowman's hospitality were Misses Elizabeth Parslow, Naomi Lucas, Catherine Buxton, May and Inez Pierce, Iris Head, Lucille Loggins, Florence Schlunk, Frances Watson, Marian McDonald, Muriel Rash, Lillian and Lulu Brady and Bernice Hayes.

ADOPTS WAR ORPHANS

Three Unfortunates Adopted By Members Daughters American Revolution

The Santa Ana Chapter, Daughters of American Revolution, held an interesting meeting at the home of Mrs. Geo. Balderston, 221 South Main street, on Saturday, Jan. 5. It is expected that a goodly number of the members will attend the annual state convention to be held on Feb. 14 and 15, at Hollywood.

Miss Vanche Plumb had a very excellent paper on "Russia," and Mrs. Chas. F. Smith talked entertainingly of some of the early historic buildings and monuments.

The chapter being interested in the care of the French war orphans and having already adopted one, is delighted to announce that two more war orphans have been adopted through this chapter, one by its Regent, Mrs. A. J. Crookshank, and the other by Mrs. Ben E. Turner.

MUFFLERS POPULAR

Stunning Feminine Fancies In Various Colors and Trimmings Described

As Belinda wound her muffler
Beneath her pretty chin,
A gallant young lieutenant found She'd wound his heart right in.

NEW YORK, Jan. 7.—Mufflers and scarfs are so fascinating this season I'll be bound you just can't help but be all wrapped up in 'em.

They are made of every material from chiffon to velvet and daintiness in every color, but all and every one have one feature in common—they are inevitably touched up with yarn and worsted embroidery. Whether they are lavishly ornamented and embellished with worsted, frills, flowers, or simply edged around with a button hole stitch of hectic yarn is a mere matter of taste. Some are finished at ends with a fringe or tassels of yarn and some boast little bobbing pompoms of the worsted.

One cunning model with a little close hat to match is of purple duvetyne lined with cerise chiffon. It is button holed around its edges with cerise yarn and the ends are finished with three little cerise pompoms like cherries dangling from green yarn stems. The little hat which is put together with cerise yarn, fastening has an adorable bunch of the yarn pompom cherries perched quaintly on top. Worn in juxtaposition to a pair of cherry lips this fetching muffler and hat should be fruitful of great possibilities. When a skating bag of the purple duvetyne finished at the bottom with a replica of the hat and muffler cherries accompanied this set for a turn on a congealed surface surely he would be a poor skate indeed who would not find intoxicating the taking of a cherry bounce over the ice.

Most gorgeous and reminiscent of Venetian and Florentine medieval splendors are the velvet mufflers embroidered with yarn and gilt threads banded in galleon and encrusted with beads. Either odd turbans and hats or ornate bags in like motives as the mufflers go with them for all the mufflers seem to have an aversion to traveling alone and insist on a hat or a bag companion piece.

The chiffon mufflers made of three thicknesses of different colored gauds are caught at the edges with a button holing of worsted and often have a quaint little nosegay of yarn flowers to fasten them snugly to a smart shoulder. The more barbaric and primitive the color combinations of these chiffon conceals the more dashings.

For pale pink personalities, however, and pastel tinted blondes these scarfs developed in three shades of green, gradations of rose, pink and flesh or purple, lavender and wisteria are lovely.

Male mufflers offer fascinations almost as manifold as the feminine scarfs. The imported knitted silk ones in smart combinations of black and white or black and grey or in exquisitely combined colored Roman stripe effects are irresistible. They are wide and yet so fluffy and soft that they crush up to almost nothing, weigh like thistle down and yet keep the most cold blooded masculine as warm as toast. The really finest ones come from Switzerland and are made by a secret process that up-to-date no other muffler producing nation can ferret out or reproduce.

The made-in-America knitted silk ones in regimental colors though not as fine and light as the imported ones, are most attractive.

For evening wear both the imported and domestic brands in white, pearl grey or white and grey with a hair line of black are stunning with a smart monogram on one end.

More bulky but snug and comfy are those mufflers of angora and other wools. In dull greys, tans and blues with borders of gay colored stripes they are most practicable and serviceable.

But the dashing boys in khaki, Sammies, Jackies, all agree, The best of all the mufflers That this season ere will see Are ones that knitting mothers, Sisters, wives and sweethearts true, Are fashioning from worsted, Khaki, grey and navy blue For though they look just knitted wool, Each fighting laddie knows They're made of woven heart aches, Each burning tear that flows, Makes there a pearl with a purr, With brave smiles sifted through, And every stitch just full of love, And hope and longing too.

Save the Wheat

Make it a principle, the Food Administration advises, to increase the use of cornmeal to the maximum. Pound for pound, the energy value of cornmeal is equivalent to that of wheat flour. The cost is less. Every time cornmeal is used where wheat products were used before, you are helping win the war.

Have cornmeal mush for breakfast; add figs, dates or other fruit for variety; serve fried mush; use cornmeal in quick breads, yeast breads, desserts. The breads are light, palatable and capable of frequent use in the weekly dietary. Likewise, make the maximum use of oatmeal or rolled oats. Omit all wheat breakfast cereals. Use oatmeal or rolled oats, and obtain variety through fruits. Use rolled oats to conserve one-fourth the wheat in making muffins, rolls and yeast-raised bread.

Here are two recipes for cornmeal griddle cakes or waffles for breakfast, tried and found unvarying. In addition one each for cornmeal and oatmeal muffins is given. These are different from those already given in these columns.

Cornmeal Griddle Cakes or Waffles, I
1 cup milk (8 oz.)
3/4 cup flour (3 oz.)
3/4 cup cornmeal (3 3/4 oz.)
2 tps. baking powder (1/2 oz.)
1/2 tsp. salt (1/4 oz.)
1 egg (2 oz.)

Add beaten egg to milk and add to dry materials, well mixed.

Cornmeal Griddle Cakes or Waffles II
1 cup sour milk (8 oz.)
3/4 cup flour (3 oz.)
3/4 cup cornmeal (3 3/4 oz.)
3/4 tsp. baking powder (1/2 oz.)
1 tsp. salt (1/4 oz.)
1 egg (2 oz.)

Cornmeal Muffins, I
1 cup milk or water (8 oz.)
1 1/3 cup flour (1 1/3 oz.)
2 1/2 cup cornmeal (3 1/2 oz.)
2 tps. salt (1/2 oz.)
1 tps. sugar (1/2 oz.)
1 egg (2 oz.)
4 tps. baking powder (1 oz.)
1/2 tsp. salt (1/4 oz.)

Method I. Mix milk, egg and melted fat, and add dry ingredients well mixed.

Method II. Scald cornmeal with the hot milk; add egg, melted fat and dry ingredients.

Oatmeal Muffins, I
1 1/2 cups milk (12 oz.)
2 eggs (4 oz.)
2 tps. sugar (1 oz.)
1 tsp. salt (1/2 oz.)
2 cups rolled oats (5 1/2 oz.)
1 cup flour (4 oz.)
4 tps. baking powder (1 oz.)

Pour milk over oats and let soak half an hour. Add eggs and melted fat. Add to dry ingredients, which have been sifted together. Bake 25 to 30 minutes. This makes ten or twelve muffins.

THOUSANDS CROWD TABERNACLE HEAR DR. BIEDERWOLF IN THREE POWERFUL MESSAGES ON SUNDAY

The largest crowds that have yet heard Evangelist Biederwolf packed the big tabernacle in three enthusiastic meetings yesterday. Every available seat was occupied at all of the sessions. Tremendous results were noted from the meetings yesterday in the spiritual awakening of many Santa Ana people, and in the dedication of many for the first time as followers of the Master.

At the Sunday school session yesterday afternoon more than 200 children went forward to give their hands to Dr. Biederwolf in a determination to live the Christian life. The scene was one of intense interest as teachers with their entire enrollment of pupils came forward with the rest in a pledge of service.

Raise Budget

Another outstanding matter of great importance occurred at the morning session when in about half an hour the remaining balance of the local expense was raised. It was estimated by the finance committee that with collections last night and next Sunday that the amount to be raised would be about $1200. Dr. Biederwolf took charge of the situation, explained that the tabernacle and carry out the program of evangelism as it is being conducted here. He enumerated the various items which composed the expense of the campaign, including the erection of the building, the light and heat bills, the care of the premises, advertising, salaries of associates in the work, etc., and stated that the total expense was about $2500, of which about half had already been raised by the collections taken night after night during the first three weeks. Starting off with $100, Judge Thomas and Judge West, the amount of $1219 was quickly raised. From this time on there will be no collections taken at the nightly meetings with the exception of next Sunday.

Big Program This Week

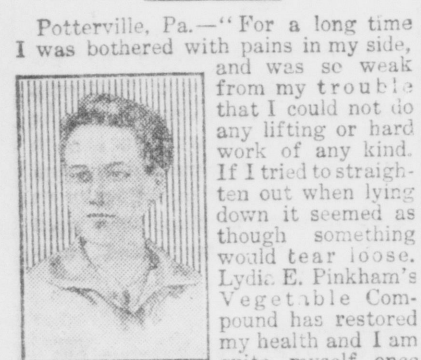

According to announcements made yesterday a full program is arranged by the evangelistic party for this week. Commencing tomorrow night the regular meetings in the tabernacle will be continued every evening at 7:30. Special delegations will be on hand every night, beginning with Tuesday night, when the Methodist, South Methodist, Spanish Methodist, Richmond Avenue Methodist, Immanuel Baptist and Christian churches will send special delegations. During the remaining nights of the week, rivalry between states will run high. Special nights have been arranged when representatives from some of the leading states of the Union will send delegations.

High School Night

Friday night will be a banner night. It is to be known as High School night. The high school is to take over the tabernacle, decorate it with pennants and banners, and come in a delegation.

don't care—you are indifferent to the whole thing. But, say, I'll guarantee that with most of you there was a day when you did think a little about this matter and just because you've trifled with it so long and smothered the feeling you had you're in the condition you are today.

"Paul says some people are 'past feeling' and that's the road some of you are traveling on. In the earlier days you felt the touch, but you hardened your heart and you've gone on until you've almost stifled the voice of God in your heart and hell will be your portion if you are not pretty soon aroused out of your stupor and out of your unconcern."

"All hope that you'll ever be saved seems to be already taken away from some of you, but, thank God, there's hope even for you. I know a man who knelt at the altar and said, 'I've had no thought of Christ for 30 years, but my heart has been touched,' and God saved him then and there."

"Oh, man and woman tonight unconcerned about sin and righteousness and judgment to the pleading of the Holy Spirit, indifferent to the bloody sacrifice of the loving Christ, indifferent to the tender interest, the agonizing prayers and burning tears of your loved ones, indifferent to the thought of eternity, while eternity with all of its issues of heaven and hell, is crowding closer upon you than possibly now you think. God grant that the Holy Spirit may touch your heart tonight."

"And now look at the third class for a minute before we finish. Those of you who are skeptical. You say you've been so long in doubt that you find it impossible to believe. You have tried to understand the supernatural and found you could not, as if man by searching could find out God! Can't you give God credit for having a little more sense and intelligence than you've got? And so, because you couldn't understand you've gone searching for something that

TAKE 'CASCARETS' IF HEADACHY, BILIOUS AND CONSTIPATED

Best For Liver and Bowels, Bad Breath, Bad Colds, Sour Stomach

Get a 10-cent box. Sick headache, biliousness, coated tongue, head and nose clogged up with a cold—always trace this to torpid liver; delayed, fermenting food in the bowels, or sour, gassy stomach. Poisonous matter clogged in the intestines, instead of being cast out of the system is re-absorbed into the blood. When the poison reaches the delicate brain tissue it causes congestion and that dull, throbbing, sickening headache. Cascarets immediately cleanse the stomach, remove the sour, undigested food and foul gases, take the excess bile from the liver and carry out all the constipated waste matter and poisons in the bowels. A Cascaret tonight will surely straighten you out by morning. They work while you sleep—a 10-cent box from your druggist means your head clear, stomach sweet and your liver and bowels regular for months.—Adv.

would appeal to you as being rational and you've gone drifting out into the sea of unholiness—into theosophy, into spiritualism, into Beism, into Christian Science, into pantheism, into deism, into agnosticism and rationalism, so called, and other isms—until people who have been concerned about you have commenced to wonder if all hope that you should be saved was not taken away forever.

"Well, it's not strange that you're doubted. Greater minds than yours have done that, too. It's no disgrace to doubt, if you are only the most of you is—you're not honest about it. You don't give, and you won't give the religion of Jesus Christ a fair test."

It May Cost Something

"It may cost you something. No doubt it will. It'll cost some of you a little humiliation of your pride; and some of you a little consideration of your intellect, and some of you forgiveness of your enemy, and some of you the whiskey bottle and the card deck, and some of you your Godless dissipation of the Lord's day."

"If you're skeptical and all in doubt, I don't know how you are ever going to find your way out unless you are ready to surrender your will to God and obey Him as far as you are ready to, and when you are ready to do that it don't make any difference how deep into skepticism you have gone, God will bring you out."

"My brother, there's all the hope in the world for you if you'll only surrender your will to God and live up to the light as it comes. If you only had the tiniest speck of light and didn't follow that as far as it took you, you can't be dead sure God would ever give you any more."

"Suppose you stood out here in front of this tabernacle with a lantern in your hand some one said 'Where are you going?' and you say, 'I'm going home,' and he says, 'Well, why don't you start?' and you say, 'The light don't shine far enough. I'll never take a step till the light shines all the way from the spot where I am now clear to the door of my house,' and the man would tell you that you could not in your tracks before you ever got home."

"That light will never shine one inch further, but you take the one step that shines before you and the light will shine into the darkness just as far as the step you take as from the spot where you stand. A lot of you fellows are standing around waiting for light but you'll never get it until you are willing to use it as it comes."

"If ever there was a man in Egyptian-soul darkness it was that marvelous-minded scientist—Romanus. He hadn't prayed for 25 years because his mind wouldn't let him. And do you know what he did. He fought his way back by a process of pure reason. But he was willing to experiment by faith as he went along."

"And here's what he says. Listen to him, the man at whose intellect the whole world marveled: 'The doctrines of the incarnation and the Trinity seemed to me most absurd in my agnostic days. But now I see in them no rational difficulty at all.'

"When Lord Kelvin was nearly 90 years old, he was the recognized master of science in the British realm and of the world. Some one asked him, one day, what he considered his greatest discovery, and he said, 'The greatest discovery I ever made was that Christ Jesus came into this world to save sinners, of whom I am chief.' And you can discover it, too, if you want to, but you'll have to find it in the way he did, and you'll have to begin with a humble mind."

AMERICAN WOMAN PLANS BETTER HOSPITAL ON FIELD

More Rapid and Efficient Care of Wounded Aimed at By Madame Park

BY W. S. FORREST
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
WITH THE FRENCH ARMIES IN
THE FIELD, Dec. 2 (by mail)—Madame Kathleen Park, an American, formerly Mrs. C. Mitchell Dewey, of New York, is today developing a scheme to give more rapid and efficient care to desperately wounded soldiers just off the battlefield than any yet devised during the war.

Not only is the scheme devised to give men whose lives depend on immediate operations the most expert surgical treatment practically on the battlefield but to save them within an hour or two afterward on their way to safety in the rear without hours of formerly inevitable jostling in ambulances which has so often proven fatal.

The plan involves a chain, first an "auto-chir"—a high speed hospital on wheels that can follow a battle where-ever it goes—second, a hospital equipped inland waterway hospital steamer working in conjunction with the "autochir," and third, Madame Park's 300-bed hospital at Chateau d'Annel, located almost on the banks of a river connecting with the great network of canals and rivers crisscrossing the whole battle area of France and Belgium.

The "auto-chir" is the latest thing in mobile hospitals. Somewhat like a hospital train, it, however, has the advantage of moving rapidly to wherever there is work to do. It is composed of a squad of five automobiles in charge of a full staff of the most competent war-trained surgeons, nurses, orderlies, chauffeurs and auto mechanics.
The vans. One automobile is an operating room equipped with all the latest improvements for war surgery, another carries radio equipment for X-ray work, a third carries instruments and surgical appliances of every kind, a fourth carries the personnel and the fifth contains a number of emergency tents, beds and bedding.

Once on the battlefield the "autochir" is rapidly coupled together and the hospital wards are ready within a few moments to receive their patients.
If the scene of the battle rapidly changes the "auto-chir" can pack up and accompany it, leaving, if necessary, a portion of its nurses and wards to care for those already operated on and lying in actual beds.

With the maze of rivers and canals every few miles along the battlefield, the hospital steamer will always lie within easy distance of the "autochir." Another set of surgeons, nurses and orderlies form the staff of the steamer which I saw lying in the River Oise today flying the American flag.

Once aboard the steamer wounded men move slowly and smoothly toward the permanent hospital, cared for en route with all the skill and comfort that the hospital itself can give.

Doctor Tarnowski, the noted Chicago surgeon, and other American surgeons connected with the Chateau d' Annel hospital, are enthusiastic over the "auto-chir-inland waterway" system which they believe will in future result in a far greater portion of recoveries among cases of desperately wounded men. The most deadly enemy of surgery, gangrene and infections of all kinds, can be practically eliminated by the ability to operate quickly on absolutely new wounds.
Also what a badly wounded man desperately needs after a wound or subsequent operation is cleanliness and quiet. No system of ambulances yet devised has yet eliminated the constant jolting and bumping, sometimes hours of it, over shell-torn roads. The hospital steamer affords as much cleanliness and quiet as could be devised on any moving object.

Madame Park believes the "autochir" system should be adopted by every allied army fighting in France.
In its first application to the Chateau d'Annel, in the Department of Oise, it places not only French as formerly but British and American soldiers within reach of 300 beds under the care of some of New York and Pitts-burg's best surgeons and nurses.

Sixty inches of water has been developed and Skidmore has just purchased a 100,000-gallon tank to care for the water. Twenty-one feet of water-bearing gravel was struck in sinking the well. The water is said to be of a superior quality.

Skidmore will build three miles of main from the well to the beach and distribute the supply through Laguna and Arch Beach. This assures the popular beach of an abundance of good water.

An application has been made to the railroad commission for the certificate of convenience necessary to operate the public utility water system.

ASKING PERMIT FOR CROSSINGS

Notice of P. E.'s Petition to Railroad Commission
Is Filed Here

The Board of Supervisors has received notice of a hearing to be held upon the petition of the Pacific Electric to the State Railroad Commission for permission to cross a number of streets and the Santa Fe and Southern Pacific railroads in the proposed construction of a P. E. line from Santa Ana to Irvine.

Some question has been raised locally as to whether or not a line of the nature contemplated, which is being built plainly that the P. E. and S. P. may enter into competition with the Santa Fe for San Joaquin ranch shipments, will be built during the period of the government's control of the railroads. However, the P. E.'s petition has been filed, and the state commission has set it for hearing at 10 a. m., January 11, at room 205,
Union League building, Los Angeles.

NOVEL PICTURE USING DOLL CHARACTERS TO BE ON LYRIC PROGRAM

After two years of untiring effort, Howard S. Moss, a student of novelties in motion picture productions, has completed his first Essanay five-reel feature, "The Dream Doll."

This picture is enacted almost entirely by fourteen-inch dolls, thus proving that the motion picture industry is capable of something entirely new.
Although Moss has produced for Es-sanay a number of one and two-reel doll motion pictures, this is his first attempt at an hour-long production.
He devoted six months to the making of it.

"I have always been interested in toys, as I have in the motion picture art," Moss explains. "And two years ago the possibilities of making dolls act by methods which I believed cinema photography would permit came to my mind."

"For weeks I worked in a locked room, experimenting with the dolls—ascertaining the possibilities, as far as their animation was concerned. And what I discovered those first few weeks formed the nucleus of my system of filming 'The Dream Doll.'"

The novel picture will be shown at the Lyric Tuesday and Wednesday.

His sons pulled him out of No Man's Land and gave him first aid until the arrival of Dr. Thibodo. It required considerable effort on the doctor's part to get the poison out of his lungs and
